

Requirements-driven data preparation for AI-powered systems: A framework and transportation-domain evaluation

Highlights

- Reframes data preparation for AI-powered systems as an RE concern.
- RDP shifts data-preparation decisions left to reduce downstream rework.
- RDP traces requirements into data obligations, dimensions, and tasks.
- Eight data-quality dimensions and six task families operationalize RDP.
- A transportation case demonstrates RDP use in early specification..